Election of Species

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species I, as illustrated in figures 1-7;

Species II, as illustrated in figure 8;

Species III, as illustrated in figures 9-13;

Species IV, as illustrated in figures 14-19;

Species V, as illustrated in figures 20, 21 and 24;

Species VI, as illustrated in figure 22;

Species VII, as illustrated in figures 29 and 32;

Species VIII, as illustrated in figures 30, 31 and 33;

Species IX, as illustrated in figure 34; and Species X, as illustrated in figures 35, 36.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Currently, no claims appear to be generic

2. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the corresponding features common to a substantial quantity of the species (e.g., the provision of a single or double wheel, a braking device, and a handle mounted on a connection arm positioned between the handle and wheel mounting, etc.) do not constitute a special technical feature or features in that the mentioned characteristics are commonly found in the prior art to the breadth described.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention, including any claims subsequently added.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

4. Any inquiry specifically concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to F. Vanaman whose telephone number is 571-272-6701.
